

The Pathfinder Project

Be part of a transformative research effort to ensure that those who served our country can continue to serve with purpose, dignity, and opportunity.

Disabled veterans bring a wealth of experience, discipline, and resilience to the civilian workforce—yet many remain underemployed or overlooked, with studies showing up to 61% underemployment among veterans.

We invite participation from veterans with service-connected disabilities to share their stories as pathfinders into corporate America. By volunteering to share your story in structured focus groups, you will help build pathways for other veterans into successful private-sector careers.
